Report

The Club MiRaNomics under Department of Economics, conducted 'Two Day Lecture Series on Development Experiences of India, China, South Africa and Brazil' on 4th and 5th February 2022 online. Ms. Arundhati Agate; Assistant Professor; Department of Economics; S. P. College enlightened the students on the given topic.

Ms. Agate started with the Chinese economy. She explained the political regimes of the country and its implications for the Chinese economy. Current macroeconomic data was also quoted by the speaker. Economic strengths of the Chinese economy like demographic dividend, rural industrialization, high agricultural production, development of infrastructural facilities, etc. and its contribution to economic growth were discussed by her followed by the economic drawbacks and challenges faced by the economy. Ageing population, Inflation, High Labour Cost, declining consumption demand are the main challenges faced by the Chinese economy according to the speaker. Ms Arundhati described the growth process of Indian economy in detail. She emphasized upon the contradictions in Indian economy i.e. dualisms, and touched upon the major problem areas like poverty and inequalities, physical and social infrastructure, rural industrialization, lack of social safety nets, etc. The speaker discussed the current economic happenings like roll back of farm laws, food inflation, high logistics cost, increasing unemployment and increasing gross public debt and fiscal deficit. All its weakness, strengths and challenges were discussed at length.

Year	GDP Per Capita (PPP) Index	Life Expectancy (yrs)
1975-1976	896	65.1
1976-2015	206	74.4

Date: 27th September 2021

A virtual field trip to Schizophrenia awareness association was organized by the SY.BA (Psychology special) students on 27th September 2021. The field visit was organized under the guidance of Ms. Pooja Jain and was attended by 26 Students on a whole. Schizophrenia Awareness Association (SAA) is an organization based in Pune, working since 1997 for people with mental illness and their families. The program started at 2:00 pm on 27th September on the ZOOM platform. The virtual field visit was conducted by two guest speakers who are working at the association. The program began with one of the guest speakers Mrs. Kadambari giving an orientation about the formation and working of the association to the students. Followed by which the second guest speaker for the program Mrs Sarika, Joint secretary of the association, shared a case study and spoke about how the association works to create awareness and to remove stigma about schizophrenia and other mental health disorders in the community, to promote self-help group activities, to provide day care and rehabilitation facilities to person with mental health disorder. This was followed by a Question-Answer session wherein the students could ask questions and clear their doubts. The vote of thanks was proposed by Ms. Sherin George.

Date: 29th September 2021

Late Dr Anita Awachat and Dr Anil Awachat founded Mukhtangan Rehabilitation Centre on August 29th, 1986. They use different types of therapy to understand the patient. Mukhtangan has a capacity to cater to over 120 residential clients. Its treatment module is of 30 days residential stay and on completion of the same, there is a regular follow up, for which the center has a strong network of follow up centers all over Maharashtra. Every year over 1200 clients take residential treatment at Mukhtangan Rehabilitation Center and over & above many clients facilitate from the Out Patient Department at the center located in Yerawada, Pune. To understand the patient's problem, which treatment suits them they try empathetic listening, to open their feelings and try to understand them. Mr Nihar the speaker he himself was a patient in the rehabilitation, he was an alcoholic which led him unemployed, with six months of therapy he got well and worked as a counselor. He has treated over hundreds of patients and being one of the patient in the rehab he feels empathetic toward the patients.

A REPORT

A session was hosted by the Sociology Department of St Mira's College for Girls with Sir Anil Jaybhaye as the chief speaker for the day. The programme began at 3 pm on Friday 27th August 2021. Primarily an introduction was done which included the basic information about the college. Some insight regarding the inclusion of papers like Sociology of Media and Gender Studies was given by Vaishali Diwakar Ma'am. This was followed by the introduction of the esteemed speaker by Katyayini Mathur – a student from Sociology special class. This included the mention of various achievements of the dignitary.

The topic was introduced through definition of culture. What stood out was the description of how dynamic the meaning of culture through the 18th 19th and 20th century is. He later emphasized on the concept of popular culture – the main body of discussion during today's session. What stood out was the importance of popular culture. Because it is so much a part of our daily life it is very important to have in depth knowledge about it. Then the history of popular culture was discussed. From its first mention in the field of Anthropology to its involvement in literature everything was touched upon with great depth and information. He also touched upon the great names in the field of popular culture and explained their invaluable contributions to the same.

One of the most interesting topics handled was Popular Culture and its status during the ages of Colonialism. Anil Sir spoke with wonderful determination about how the Imperial countries used the concept of popular culture to train their so called 'uncivilized' colonies. What stood out was the concept of classes within popular culture. What is highly common amongst the elite has the highest influence on popular culture. The lifestyle of the elite classes dominates the contemporary popular culture elements. The decision regarding what can be called 'popular' is also hugely dependent on the higher classes. Thus, the politics behind popular culture was wonderfully touched upon.

Anil sir later gave explicit detailing about the links between Capitalism and its control over the current Popular Cultures. The relation between these two concepts was astonishing to learn about. Also explained was , the interdisciplinary nature of Popular Culture. How popular culture dwells upon Society-Politics-Identity-Culture was wonderful to know. Few institutes with great involvement to the study of Popular Culture like Frankfurt School and the Birmingham School England were also talked about. Sir also shared his personal experiences about studying Popular Culture through Village Fairs which showcase the rural economies. He explained the castewise control over these events and also threw light on the division of labour through such events.

Later, an interactive Question-Answer session was conducted wherein the doubts of the participants were adhered to. Lastly, a formal vote of thanks was presented to end this extremely enriching session.

Title: Kimiko Hahn: Talking Poetry

Date: 1st February 2022

Number of students: 49

Report:

Kimiko Hahn, award winning Japanese American poet and “Distinguished Professor” at Queens College, CUNY delivered a guest lecture to the Dept of English students, St Mira's College for Girls. However, the talk was open to all those interested as an open public free lecture in keeping with the spirit that education should be available for all.

Prof Hahn began by discussing the themes of sibling rivalry, jealousy and grief central to the poem ‘The Two Sisters’ which has been prescribed in the Optional English paper “A Woman's World”. Her childhood memory of being the monster in the family led to her exploring tropes used in fairytales and Jungian archetypes. She elaborated on the Japanese form of Zuihitsu, a form that she uses, by explaining an essay she wrote on it. The session was in the form of questions posed by the students followed by her answers. Priyana Munshi, the student coordinator delivered the formal introduction and Zainab Kagalwala gave a warm and heartfelt vote of thanks. Prof Hahn was warm and friendly and the session was both enlightening and enjoyable. She ended the interaction by reading her latest poem published in the New Yorker magazine titled “On Pleasing” which was written as a Pantoum, a Malaysian form.

Report on Field visit of Cost and Works Accountancy Specialization students

On 03rd March 2022 the Department of Accountancy organized a field visit of costing specialization students to Utopia, Kalyani Nagar, Pune.

4 students of TY BCOM Costing specialization physically visited Utopia: Manufacturers of Cold pressed oils and the rest of the students joined online to understand the nuances of the oil processing industry and to get insight into oil extraction.

Through this visit, the students gained knowledge of working of various types of edible oils like groundnut, sesame, coconut, almond, mustard, sunflower etc.

The proprietor, Swati Shinde alumna of St. Mira's School, 1998 batch, introduced the concept of cold pressed oil and explained the difference between cold pressed and refined oil as well as its health benefits. Further, the cost of extraction and the treatment of by-products was explained by their officials.

The students also got to know about the challenges faced by the small enterprises such as cost maintenance; labour issues and competitors in the market etc.

The students learnt while following all covid protocols.

Report on Field visit of Cost and Works Accountancy Specialization students

On 26th February 2022 the Department of Accountancy organized a field visit of costing specialization students to Mapro Food Park, Wai.

38 students of TY BCOM costing specialization visited Mapro Food Park Wai to understand the nuances of processing industry and nature of losses involved. They learnt about the cost accounting method involved at Mapro Factory.

Through this visit the students gained knowledge of working of Food Processing units; nature of process industry and material losses incurred in various processes.

The students were first introduced to the Mapro Story i.e. the evolution of Mapro products through audio visuals following which they were split into 3 batches and taken by guides to the a tour of the factory that included the Cold storage unit; actual factory of Jam, Ketchup and Mazanna products and their packaging units. They also got an insight into strawberry farming. The last part of the tour included insights into Khakhra making.

The students got an opportunity to interact with Mr. Mayur Vora- Senior Executive at Mapro who shared insights from a costing perspective.

The students followed all covid protocols and had fun while they learned.

Report on Virtual Museum Visit

A virtual Museum Visit was organised for the T.Y.B.A. History students. Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, a number of Museums have gone online and given access to view their exhibits in the virtual world. The students chose to visit an Indian Museum, the National Museum, New Delhi since they studied Indian Culture and Heritage in this semester. The students were very excited with this activity and got to relate to the miniature paintings, sculptures, artists' work that they had studied as a part of their curriculum. They were also able to visit the Harappan Civilization Gallery and see the original bronze sculpture of the 'Dancing Girl' that was excavated by archaeologists. We also visited the Musical Instruments Gallery there since the students study Classical Music as well. Another visit that we made was of our very own 'Shaniwarwada' in Pune. The students study Pune as a tourist destination and the heritage structures in Pune and India at large. This visit really fascinated the students and encouraged them to actually visit the site in their holidays. 18 students benefitted from this virtual tour.

Lecture Series on 'Globalization and Labour'

The Department of Sociology organized a lecture series on 'Globalization and Labour' on 4-6th April, 2022 in Room No. 111 at 12.00-1.30 p.m.

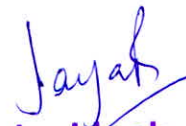

Dr. Vaishali Joshi, Co-ordinator of this activity, presented the rationale.

Dr. Vandhana Palsane, senior faculty and former HOD, Sociology, Siddhivinayak College, delivered the first lecture on 'Changing nature of work in the context of globalization' on 4th April, 2022. She discussed globalization and the changing nature of working class and focused on the gradual shift from proletariat to precariat class. She pointed out how the work is becoming more and more insecure through practices of 'out sourcing', 'sub-contracting'. She explained various important terms such as 'footloose labour,' 'informalization of labour' and 'corrosion of character'.

The second lecture on 'Challenges of organizing the unorganized' was conducted by Dr. Kiran Moghe on 6th April, 2022. Dr. Moghe is active member of CPM and founding member of Janavadi Mahila Sanghatana. She began her lecture by clarifying the terms of the organised and unorganised sectors. Validating her argument with statistical data she focused on the character of the Indian labour market, which is largely segmented. She elaborated on challenges related to unorganized sector such as diversity, large participation of women leading in turn to falling wages and building a shared identity.

The guest lecture on Counter Hegemonic Identities by Zameer Kamble was organised on 25th April 2022. It was extremely informative and students got to know and learn a lot about alternate identities. He explained how gender is defined as a dominant field in binary terms. He also explained the way we are trained into a particular gender, how is gender constructed and it's syllabus is decided by the society we live in and how intersex children with both male and female organs are abandoned by their parents and the society is so saddening and they are made to form a third community called the Hijda community. 42 students attended this lecture.

CHAPTER 1

MY EARLIEST MEMORIES are a confusion of hilly fields and dark, damp stables that scampered along the beams above my head. But I remember well enough the horse sale. The terror of it stayed with me all my life.

I was not yet six months old, a gangling, leggy colt who had never been furtive feet from his mother. We were parted that day in the terrible hubbub of the auction was never to see her again. She was a fine working farm horse, getting on in years the strength and stamina of an Irish draught horse quite evident in her fore and hind legs. She was sold within minutes, and before I could follow her through the gates, she was out of the ring and away. But somehow I was more difficult to dispose of. Perhaps the auctioneer would look in my eye as I circled the ring in a desperate search for my mother, or perhaps it was that none of the farmers and gypsies there were looking for a spindly-looking half-thoroughbred colt. But whatever the reason they were a long time haggling over how little I was worth before I heard the hammer go down and I was driven out through the gates and into a new outside world.

TYING A LONG rope to the halter he walked me out of the stable. Zoey was out there looking back over her shoulder at me and I was anywhere and with anyone as long as she was with me. All the while my father was speaking in a hushed voice and looking around him.

He must have known that I would follow old Zoey, for he led us both quietly out of the yard down the track and over the hill. He mounted Zoey swiftly and we trotted up the hill and into the village. Neither of us, I knew the road well enough of course for I had been there before, and indeed I loved going there because there were always people to see. It was in the village only a short time before that I remember that Albert had made a great fuss of me after that. I could see that several motor-cars were parked up around the square, a greater gathering of men and horses than I had ever seen. Excited as I was, I remember that a sense of deep apprehension came over me as we trotted up into the village.

There were men in khaki uniforms everywhere; and then as Albert's father dismounted and led us up past the church towards the green a military band struck up a rousing, pounding

I STOPPED drinking briefly at the river. The shelling moved back and forth along the valley and earth and trees into the air and leaving behind great craters that smoke itself was on fire. But any fear I might have had was overwhelmed by a profound sadness and love that compelled me to stay with Tophthorn for as long as I could. Once I left him I would be alone in the world again, that I would no longer have support beside me. So I stayed with him and waited.

I remember it was near first light and I was cropping the grass close to the river when I heard through the crump and whistle of the shells the whining sound accompanied by a terrifying rattle of steel that set my ears back against my head. It came from over the ridge from the direction in which the soldiers had disappeared, a grating, roaring sound that came ever nearer by the minute; and louder again as the shelling died away completely.

Although at the time I did not know it as such, the first tank I ever saw came over the rise of the hill with the cold light of dawn behind it, a great grey lumbering monster that belched out smoke from behind as it rocked down the hillside towards me. I hesitated only for a few moments before blind terror tore me at last from Tophthorn's side and sent me bolting down the hill towards the river. I crashed into the river without even knowing whether I should find my feet or not and was half-way up the wooded hill on the other side before I dared stop and turn to see if it was still chasing me. I should never have looked, for the one monster had become several monsters and they were rolling inexorably down towards me, already past the place where Tophthorn lay with Friedrich on the shattered hillside. I waited, secure, I thought, to fade into unreality, and the war itself was suddenly a million miles away and of no consequence. At last there were no guns to be heard, and the only vivid reminder of conflict was still going on were the regular arrivals of the veterinary wagons at the front.

Major Martin cleaned my wound and stitched it up; and though at first I could feel a little weight on it, I felt in myself stronger with every day that passed. Albert was again, and that in itself was medicine enough; but properly fed once more with water each morning and a never ending supply of sweet-scented hay, my recovery seemed a matter of time. Albert, like the other veterinary orderlies, had many other horses to look after but he would spend every spare minute he could find fussing over me in the stable. There always seemed to be one or two faces looking admiringly over my door. Even Thunder, as they called the sergeant, would inspect me over zealously, and when I was not about he would fondle my ears and tickle me under my throat saying, 'Ow, aren't you? Thundering fine horse if ever I saw one. You get better now, d'you hear?'

But time passed and I did not get better. One morning I found myself quite unable to finish my mash and every sharp sound, like the kick of a bucket or the rattle of the bolt on the stable door, seemed to set me on edge and made me suddenly tense from head to tail. My forelegs in particular would not work as they should. They were stiff and tired, and I felt a resigned dejection on Sergeant Thunder's face as he and Major Martin left the yard empty now of horses and their friends. Albert and his friends stood around me commiserating with me and trying to comfort Albert. 'No need to worry, Albert,' one of them was saying. 'I have been worse, couldn't it? I mean, a lot more'n half of our horses were killed; and that's for definite. At least we know Joey's safe enough with the farmer.'

'What farmer?' Albert asked. 'How do you know he's a farmer?'

'The old Thunder, didn't it? Heard him saying he's got a farm down in the country where that Joey would never have to work again so long as he lived. Kept on talking about a girl called Emilie or something. Couldn't understand half of what he was saying.'

'Dunno what to make of him,' said Albert. 'Sounds mad as a hatter, the way he goes on. "Emilie's horse by right" - whoever she may be - isn't that what the old man said? What the devil did he mean by that? If Joey belongs to anyone by right, then he belongs to the army, and if he doesn't belong to the army, he belongs to me.'

'Better ask him yourself, Albert,' said someone else. 'Here's your chance. He's coming over this way with the major and old Thunder.'

Title: Field Trip to The Box, Karve Rd, Pune

Date: 28th April 2022

Number of students: 17

Report:

Space is central to any performance. But space in theatre is where the two most important components of any theatrical production—the audience and the actors—come together. On the 28th of April, Thursday, 2022, the Second-year, English Special St. Mira's Ensemble Group and the SEC Theatre course instructor, Hartman De Souza, ventured out to scout the acting space rented out by The Box— Pune's very first 'black box' performing arts theatre. The theatre was perfect for an experimental theatre group as it made for an incredible immersive theatre setting that knew no bounds, where, as Hartman says, "even the sky is not the limit". Students met Aveneesh, the Junior Manager of Lighting and Set Design about the technicalities of theatre/The Box and they were introduced to the various facilities provided by The Box such as: hi-tech lighting system which boasts Power cans, Spotlights, Face Lights, standing, portable Spotlights and house lights—all of which are attached to bars, making the lighting flexible and adjustable, curtains, jet-black in colour, can be drawn to block out all light and shroud the space in complete darkness— literally like a pitch-black, boundless void or vacuum etc.

The Box was realized by 2 Pune-based theatre practitioners Pradeep Vaidya, who Hartman introduced the students to and whom they had the pleasure of interacting with, and Rupali Bhave. The students were dumbfounded by the infinite possibilities of using entries, exits and the mezzanine spaces in The Box—a one-of-a-kind, portal to a magical universe of drama, dreams and discovery.

AN AUTONOMOUS - Affiliated to Savitribai Phule Pune University Activity Report.

Department of English- Two-Day Students' Seminar on 'Women in Theatre: Reclaiming Space'

The Department of English, St Mira's College for Girls, organised a two-day students' seminar, 'Women in Theatre: Reclaiming Space' on the 25th and 26th of February 2022. After the two very difficult years of the COVID-19 pandemic the seminar was held in-person, on campus; it was a huge success and attended by 56 enthusiastic students. Nine students presented academic papers on themes of spatial and cultural analysis of women in theatre; the relevant pre-history and present historical emergence of drama, patterns in theatre production and its experiential meaning, and women's theatre as a crucible of political activism.

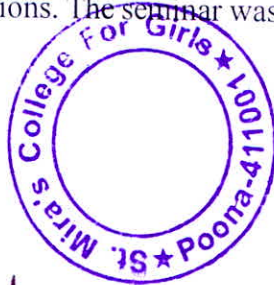

In the opening session on Day 1 Ragini Singh Khushwaha walked students through her experiences as a theatremaker before touching upon what devised theatre is and how it comes together. She spoke at length about the collaborative processes that result in theatre productions and listed a number of companies across India that created such work. Mrs. Sawani Vinita spoke at length about Marathi theatre and some stalwart productions of mainstream Indian theatre. She touched upon a number of industrial conventions before ending with a flourish, performing an excerpt from Ti Phoolrani that was a testament to her skill as a theatre professional. Each session was followed by an interactive Q & A session.

Dr. Kelly Aliano could not be with us in person her recorded lecture, a cornucopia of information; bursting with knowledge in a 40-minute package, was screened on Day 2. She spoke on the subject of women in the history of American theatre, listing examples from the early 20th century to contemporary artists working the circuit in modern times. She also traced the feminist movement and its impact on both the creators and creations in theatre; going into detail about characterizations, stereotypes and matters of representation. This was followed by Dr. Suchetana Banerjee who offered a historiographical outline of theatre in India, specifically walking us through the vibrant theatre scene in the Bengal of the 19th and 20th centuries. She weaved a number of concepts like orientalism, body politics and gender power dynamics into a comprehensive look into the origin of theatre as an art form for a new India. Ms. Ananya Parikh took a more abstract route, creating a discussion around the foundations of our perceptions of theatre. She invited questioning the very idea of presence in a historically male-dominated industry that excluded a number of informal spaces of performance in contrast to the formalized idea of theatre. To conclude, she introduced what she termed 'feminine direction', which loosened the constraints of making theatre and encouraged experimentation.

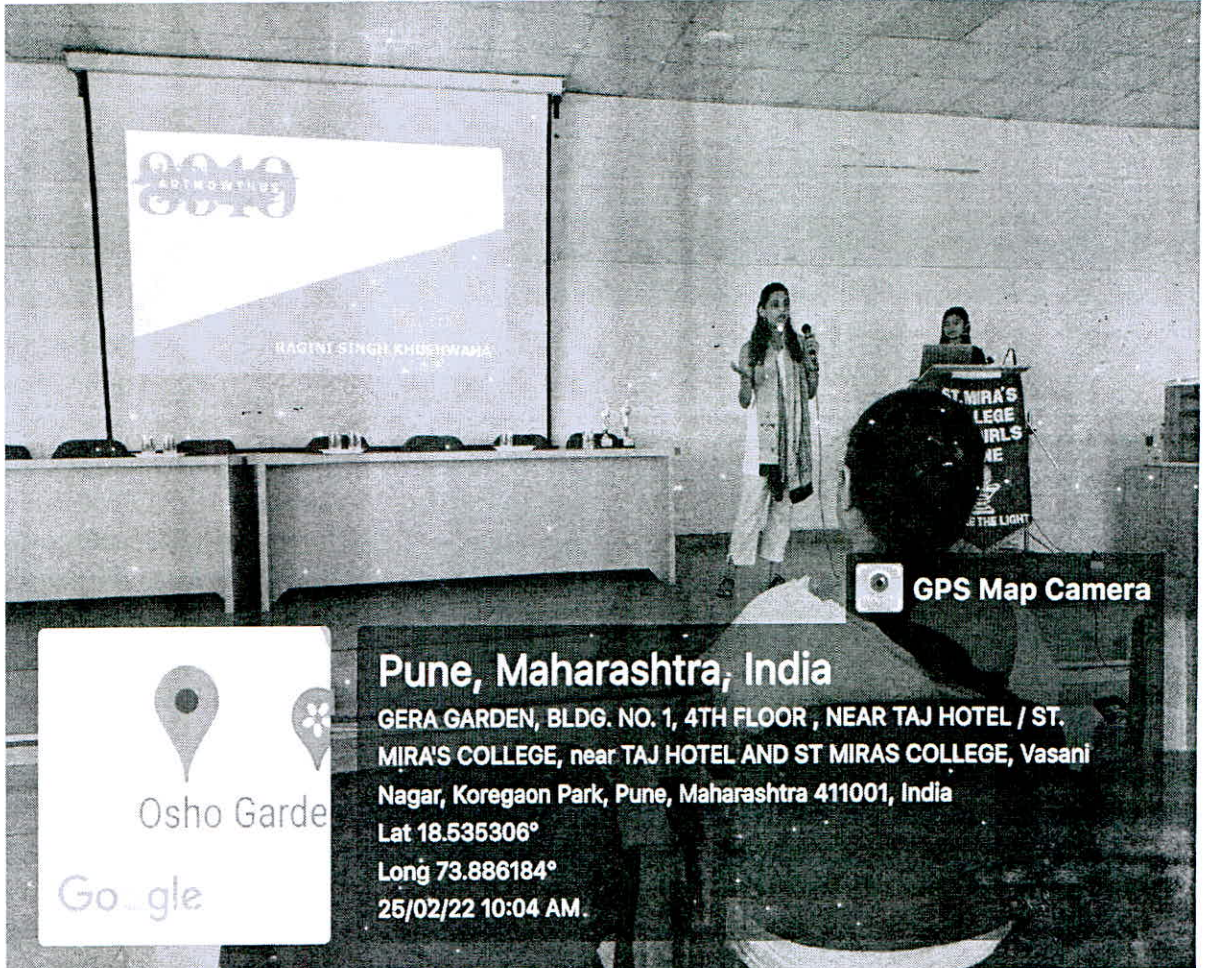

Along with the guest lectures nine student presented their papers of the various themes, these were followed by Q& A sessions. The seminar was coordinated by Ms. Suhaile Azavedo

A Report - Urbanization process and City development – Voices of Marginalized

Date	Student's participated	Topic
21.09.2021	42	Urbanization process and City development – Voices of Marginalized

The session organized by the Department of Sociology based on the topic “Urbanization process and City development” was conducted on 21st September 2021 via Google meet as a platform. The speaker – Mr Anil Jaybhaye enlightened a total of 42 students on the aforementioned topic.

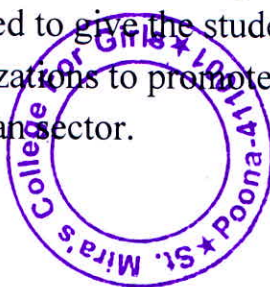

Our respected speaker, Mr Anilkumar V. Jaybhaye, an assistant Professor in School of Social Sciences at SRTM University, Nanded, was also a coordinator of MSW and sociology at the same institute. He completed his MA, MPhil and PhD from SPPU, Pune, with the Research topic – “The Popular Culture and its Public: A study of Village fair in Maharashtra” for his PhD. His work has been published in a number of Marathi journals. The speaker started the session by asking students a question that formed the basis of the whole session ahead - “why is the study of Sociology important”. After listening to the students' responses, he proceeded to present students with three important aspects of Modern Sociology-

1. The Critical examination and analysis of Common knowledge: He mentioned that this included deconstruction of modern social concepts which lead sociologists to Critical Reflexive knowledge.
2. Understanding the structure, access and the operation of power in the society and its units: He included the power-resistance dichotomy, new platforms like social media that play a part in the power dynamics and the pressure that comes with power as well.
3. Understanding the Inequalities and Discrimination in the society: which are based on gender, caste, class, language and other factors.

According to the speaker, the ultimate goal of sociology was to ‘Create a Healthy and a Democratic Society’.

The speaker then differentiated between Urban and rural life in terms of structure, function and characteristics. He explained how every city has a unique identity based on the production linked with it. He then proceeded to give the students multiple examples of various projects taken up by certain organizations to promote a healthy change and development in the rural as well as the urban sector.

Manjita Kulkarni

Principal Incharge
St. Mira's College for Girls, Pune.

He then encouraged students to take a look at 'development' from the perspective of the people who migrate to cities for work, elderly people, children as well as the specially-abled section of society and how it affects them.

The session ended with a question-answer session which contained topics such as bridging the gap between urban and rural sectors through structural changes, the benefits and faults of the welfare policy system and important literary sources for better understanding of modern sociology.

A webinar was organised on 'History of Ancient Greek Architecture' for the F.Y.B.A. students. The speaker was Architect and Dr. Vaishali Latkar, from Dr. Bhanuben Nanavati College of Architecture for Women, Pune. The idea was to introduce the students to the nuances of architecture and why Greek architecture is known as Classical architecture. Dr. Latkar being an architect herself, brought in that perspective of art and how the environment, climate, geography played an important role in the construction of buildings in ancient Greece. 40 students benefitted from this webinar.

31st August,2021	51	Guest Lecture on " Lakeer ke iss taraf based on Narmada Bachao Andolan"

The new documentary Lakeer ke iss taraf sheds light on the Sardar Sarovar project. 85 minutes documentary enables viewers to understand the situation through the lense of the disadvantaged villages, who were compelled to leave their ancestral property and witnessed the submergence of their homes, lands, cattle's ..etc . Ms. Shilpa Ballal was a one-woman team, who handled the script, filming, production, narration, editing and direction. She says that her close friends provided financial assistance to make this project possible. The journey has been intense yet enriching the long struggle over the last 35 years had so many aspects to cover; it was challenging to fit them all into a short documentary. However, she tried her best. Shilpa Ballal had shared her experiences with the students. She said that there was no intention to make this documentary but to spread awareness about these helpless villagers, displaced because of Sardar Sarovar she wanted to help them. "Medha Patkar has been a great source of inspiration and a role model for me throughout this journey and also a pillar of support for the Adivasis" says the film maker. The lecture was very informative for every student and the questions were discussed in this lecture raised by the students. Students asked questions about Adivasis educational system shown in the documentary. Shilpa Ballal have explained each and every dimension related to schools, education system, the condition of government schools in that area, preference for Jeevan Pathshala from the parents, methods of learning in Adivasis everything was explained through examples.
